Storm Smites East

LONDON, Ont. (BUP)—A lightning and hail storm described by some observers as the worst in 60 years caused millions of dollars worth of crop damage in western Ontario yesterday.

Tobacco, grain, corn, soybean and tomato crops were destroyed in many areas. Peach and apple trees also were hit. Insurance agents said they were swamped with hundreds of reports of heavy farm losses. They said the average value of each tobacco crop hit by the storm was about $30,000.

Hardest hit areas were Oakland, Burford, Townsend and Blenheim townships. In Durham, five head of cattle were killed when lightning struck a tree.

Two sections of London were blacked out by power failures. Roads around London were flooded.

A creek overflowed at Thamesford, blocking Highway 100 for more than two hours.

EASTBOURNE, England (UP)—Police said yesterday they expect to break "the crime story of the century" next week with charges against a man suspected of the methodical murder of more than 100 women over a 20-year period.

"It will surpass any crime of this century," police said, "because the large scale on which it has been conducted."

They made the prediction after 10 days of intensive investigation into the death of women, mostly rich widows, in South Sussex. During the investigation they opened graves, exhumed bodies and examined more than 400 wills.

They said the evidence will include copies of wills of wealthy widows, each containing the name of the same beneficiary.

HUGE SUM
"This man is not a member of the testator's family in any of the cases we are investigating," police said.

Eastbourne police disclosed that Scotland Yard's detective superintendent Herbert Hannam "is collecting a huge amount of circumstantial evidence to show that thousands of pounds have passed into the hands of one man under conditions which make him far from normal."

They said Hannam also is far from satisfied that the were normal, although they were mainly aged women.

Describing the suspect's deaths of many of the women method of operation the police said: "It has been so cleverly done that the only possible chance of pinning a major charge on the man concerned is that over the years he may have become over-confident and careless and made a fatal slip."

"Scotland Yard now believes that they will find that slip. If they do, the weight of their evidence will be so great that a conviction is reasonably certain."

Two Eastbourne detectives visited a well-known hypnotist, Max Meynell Bloomfield, at nearby Bexhill last night and said he gave them "valuable assistance" in connection with the man now strongly suspected but not yet named.

HYPNOTIC POWERS

They said Bloomfield demonstrated how persons could be put in such a state of hypnosis that they could be made to follow certain lines of action suggested to them.

The development indicated police were pursuing their investigation on a theory that the series of deaths of rich widows may have been caused by a cunning inheritance killer with hypnotic powers.

$8,500 Theft Charge Faces Chief of Police

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Police Chief Charles Lockwood of nearby Marmora was arrested Wednesday and charged with theft of mails in connection with the disappearance of a parcel containing $8,500.

Lockwood, about 25, was arrested by Inspector Robert Wainwright, with the criminal investigation bureau of the Ontario Provincial Police.

The $8,500 vanished Aug. 15 while being shipped aboard a Canadian Pacific Railway train.

It was en route from the Marmora branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank to the Marine Trust Company of western New York in Buffalo.

The theft was discovered by a clerk aboard the train. He found a mail bag in which the money had been mailed split open. The money and other registered mail was gone.

It was Lockwood who called in the OPP to investigate the case. He said he accompanied a bank employee to the post office at Marmora, 25 miles north of here, where the parcel was registered.

Second Body Found

WASHINGTON (UP)—The navy has recovered the body of a second crewman from the navy patrol plane shot down off the Chinese Communist mainland last Thursday, it was announced yesterday.

Simultaneously, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said he thinks "it's clear" that the U.S. craft was shot down by the Chinese Reds. The Communists have admitted firing on a plane but said they thought it belonged to Nationalist China.

Dulles, who made his statement after a conference with President Eisenhower, told reporters he would prefer not to discuss now what action the United States may take in the case.

Sixteen crewmen were lost. The patrol plane was shot down Thursday while on a "routine patrol" over international waters.

In London Store

Russian Girl Olympic Star Arrested in Theft of $1 Hats

LONDON (UP)—A female member of Russia's Olympic team was arrested in a downtown store yesterday on charges of attempting to steal five $1 hats.

Scotland Yard identified her as Nina Ponomareva, 27, star woman's discus thrower on the Soviet Olympic team which came here to meet British track challenges this weekend.

Police said she was arrested in C and A Modes, a low-price women's wear chain store in downtown London, in possession of five hats valued at $4.62.

Mias Ponomareva was taken to West End Central police station. The Russian consulate immediately sent a representative.

With the consular official serving as interpreter, she was formally charged with theft and released in his custody for trial today.

Mias Ponomareva gave her occupation as teacher and her address as the Lancaster Court hotel, London.

But police later confirmed she is a member of the 58-member Soviet track squad which will meet Britain's Olympic hopefuls in a major pre-Melbourne warmup Friday and Saturday at White City stadium.

Mias Ponomareva holds the longest women's discus mark recorded so far this year — 175 feet 11 inches.

She was ordered to appear at Marlborough street magistrate's court today.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said she was not travelling on a diplomatic passport or she would not have been booked.

He said a store detective apprehended her in a crowd of afternoon shoppers at the store in Oxford street, London's main low-price department store district.

The Soviet woman athlete is a thick-set, 210-pound girl with a lantern jaw and bulging muscles. Her blonde hair is cropped.

'Suez' Forces Sent To Cyprus—by France

British Clamp Down

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain clamped new rigid restrictions on Cyprus and its religious leader Wednesday.

The people were warned an uneasy period may continue for weeks. New violence flared. Field Marshal Sir John Harding said his offer last week of surrender terms to the leaders of the underground (EOKA) rebels was a genuine attempt to bring EOKA's violence campaign to a halt and produce real conditions for permanent peace.

LONDON (AP)—Britain and France arranged yesterday to use the troubled isle of Cyprus as an allied springboard military base in the Suez crisis. French troops are presumably en route to Cyprus by sea.

A Reuters dispatch from Algiers said Wednesday night that French air units already had been moved to Cyprus from North Africa.

The eastern Mediterranean British island colony is 250 miles from the north end of the Suez canal and within easy parachutist range of the 103-mile waterway and Egypt's big cities.

The French entry into the Cyprus scene was described as temporary and intended to protect French nationals in the Middle East.

There was no immediate indication of the size or character of the contingent the French are posting on Cyprus with British consent.

ANGER FANNED
The action by the two Western powers came as Egyptian President Nasser's government fanned anti-British feeling by arresting five Britons on espionage charges and ordering two British diplomats out of the country.

As tension mounted in the Suez dispute Cairo dispatches pictured Russia as the only non-Arab power now urging Nasser to spurn any compromise on the canal.

SET FOR ACTION
Britain and France obviously were clearing for action in case the negotiations on the canal fall through and hostilities are subjected to attacks in Middle East countries.

The French request seemed to emphasize the British insistence that the island is vital not only to British interests but to the position of the NATO powers in the eastern Mediterranean.

Meanwhile, the five-nation Suez committee announced in London last night it will meet Nasser in Cairo next Monday to discuss the future of the vital canal.

Representatives of the United States, Sweden, Iran, Ethiopia and Australia, under the chairmanship of Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, will fly from London to Egypt Sunday, it was announced.

Nasser agreed to the time and place last night in a message relayed to Menzies by the Egyptian embassy in London.

A British foreign office spokesman said the talks would last until Nasser gave his "final answer" to the 17-nation plan for internationalization of the waterway.

Other sources said the old Suez Canal Company had set Sept. 13 as the deadline for agreement on the dispute. At that time, the sources said, the company will recall its key foreign employees from their jobs. Such a move would virtually shut down the canal.

A British foreign office spokesman avoided a direct answer as to what would happen if Nasser refused to agree to a satisfactory solution.

"A rejection by Col. Nasser would lead to a new situation," he said.

Reds Invite Howe

ST. ANDREWS, N.B.

(CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Wednesday night he has conditionally accepted an invitation to visit Russia.

The invitation was given to him verbally Wednesday by Russian Fisheries Minister A. A. Isikov, touring Canada with other top Soviet fisheries officials.

"It is my wish to go but I will have to consult with my colleagues," Mr. Howe said.

The earliest time he could make the trip would be after the next federal election, he added. The election is expected next year, possibly in June.

Government Blamed

Troops to Hong Kong 'Mistake', Says Historian

OTTAWA (BUP)—Government action which resulted in the death of some 400 Canadian soldiers in the Far East in the Second World War was branded "a mistake" yesterday by Col. C. P. Stacey, the army's official historian.

In the first volume of Canada's Second World War history, "Six Years of War," Col. Stacey criticized the government for sending two regiments—the Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles—to Hong Kong on the eve of war with Japan in 1941. It was an "egregious absurdity," Col. Stacey said, to think that such action could have deterred Japan's war plans.

Hong Kong fell to the Japanese on Christmas Day, 1941. The Canadian toll was 290 killed, 493 wounded, and 132 dead later in Japanese prison camps.

Before the Canadian reinforcements sailed, the colonel said, both the United States and Britain were aware of the imminent threat in the Far East. Col. Stacey also quoted a note written by Britain's then prime minister, Winston Churchill, to Lord Ismay, dealing with the Far East commander's request for reinforcements.

"This is all wrong," Churchill wrote. "If Japan goes to war with us there is not the slightest chance of holding Hong Kong or relieving it. It is most unwise to increase the loss we shall suffer there."

In Canada, sending the reinforcements had greater political repercussions than any other overseas operation. George Drew, then Conservative leader in Ontario, charged that the regiments had been ill-trained, badly-equipped, and, as a result, nine injured and all recaptured when the truck turned over after a wild three-mile chase.

Boy Finds 'Old VC' On Beach

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A Vancouver boy is believed to have found one of the first Victoria Crosses ever awarded.

The small bronze cross, showing signs of long wear, was found near a wharf at Kitsilano beach by 12-year-old Wayne Burton.

The name "Mitchell" is engraved on the back of the medal, along with the date "April 12, 1864."

Records show a Capt. Samuel Mitchell of the Royal Navy received a Victoria Cross April 29, 1864.

"We're sure it's a Victoria Cross," says Mrs. Burton, the boy's mother.

Capt. Mitchell was captain of the foretop on HMS Harrier during an action off the coast of New Zealand.

Truck Wreck Balks Convicts

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—Some 30 convicts broke out of Kilby State prison in a dump truck Wednesday, but two were killed, nine injured and all recaptured when the truck turned over after a wild three-mile chase.

"We arrived a day late. We have no apologies to offer for that," he added. "Nothing can stop our progress or the extension of this railway to Yukon and Alaska," he said.

The day started off with a bang—20 bangs to be exact, as masked cowboys held up the train as it reached within a mile or two of Williams Lake.

Prince George Explodes

Fantastic Trip, Fantastic Finis!

By PETER BEUTON

PRINCE GEORGE—This town went wild last night. It was a fantastic ending to a fantastic journey which started when the first official Pacific Great Eastern Railway passenger train left North Vancouver for Prince George early Monday.

Thousands of cheering people and hundreds of honking cars were on hand to greet the train when it made its belated arrival here at 6:30 p.m. yesterday, more than 20 hours behind schedule.

A triumphant parade took passengers downtown after station festivities.

The party appeared as if it would last all night. Indians led off with a war dance, then made an attack on the official party; can-can dancers danced on the bars, cowboys kidnapped dancers and just about everyone in this town of 15,000 danced in the streets.

There was no let up.

Fireworks blazed in the sky as the residents went almost berserk.

Premier Bennett, Railways Minister Chetwynd and PGE manager Einar Gunderson beamed throughout.

"After 40 years the PGE between Vancouver and here is through," said one exuberant resident. "Can you think of a reason why we shouldn't celebrate?"

No one could supply the answer.

Mayor J. R. Morrison who greeted the arrival of the train lauded the government as "these enterprising men eager for responsibility whose indefatigable energy has made all this possible."

Replied Premier Bennett: "This is a great day for the PGE. It is a great day for B.C. and it is a great day for all of Western Canada."

"We arrived a day late. We have no apologies to offer for that," he added. "Nothing can stop our progress or the extension of this railway to Yukon and Alaska," he said.

The day started off with a bang—20 bangs to be exact, as masked cowboys held up the train as it reached within a mile or two of Williams Lake.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

While G. E. Mortimore is on holiday, some of his columns are being repeated in this space.

Repeated from Jan. 13, 1955

PROFESSIONAL mourners have shed a whole Mississippi of tears for the passing of the stern-wheel roverboat.

Men of the old school have breathed enough sighs for the stern-wheel roverboat.

When the last note from the last steam locomotive whistle dies in the night, a regiment of bereaved railroad-lovers will be left standing by the tracks with empty hearts.

Every new kind of vehicle in the world has caused a great deal of grief in its time. Those of us who are Tories and romantics at the core (and what man isn't?) will share the grief to some extent. No human could like a square-cut smelly mechanical ox like a diesel locomotive after knowing steam in its glory.

And yet, a later generation that never saw steam will have no special affection for it. Men of the year 2055 will stare at pictures of steam locomotives and call them quaint relics of antiquity.

But they will be distressed in their turn at the passing of machinery that has become part of their own lives.

"I wish the dear old atom-powered rocket-sled was still in use," they will say. "Travel doesn't seem the same since they brought in these new gadgets that transmit passengers over the radio waves with the speed of light."

Sailing vessels are a very ancient method of transport, but they may have caused tears in their day.

"I don't relish my voyages as much since the 50-oared galleys were replaced by these new-fangled wind-ships," I can imagine some ancient Greek or Phoenician saying.

"Yes, I certainly miss the creak of those big oars, and the cries and groans of those slaves. A ship was really a ship in those days. It isn't the same, Plato, old boy, it isn't the same. And you look at all those poor slaves thrown out of jobs. Don't know what to do with themselves. It was the only life they knew."

No doubt some ancient Briton wept for the passing of the coracle.

The horse-drawn fire wagon and the stage coach had their mourners.

Airmen are already lamenting the approaching end of the propeller-driven aircraft. No doubt some of them are nostalgic about the older weapons.

"Now you take the block-buster bomb, Prune—there was something you could understand and love. Twenty thousand pounds of high explosive. A man knew he had a bomb aboard in those days. Even the old-fashioned atomic bomb was cute, in a way."

"But this hydrogen bomb—it's all mathematics. With these new guided missiles, they won't even be needing us to carry it any more. I tell you, war isn't what it used to be."

When germ warfare becomes the general thing, some warriors may be fearful because the good old rabbit-fever virus has been replaced by this new paralytic organism.

Don't ask me to weep over that one, though. A man has only a limited reservoir of tears.

Apple Leaves Must Be Big

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Did you ever give thought to the size of the leaves on your apple trees?

I've heard many a gardener boasting of the number of bushels of fruit taken from a tree, or the size and weight of individual apples, but I have yet to run across anyone who took pride in the color and size of the leaves. Yet this is a most important point, for you cannot have consistent crops of big apples without big leaves.

LEAF SURFACE

It is in the leaves that the tree manufactures the nutrients that go to swell the fruits, and some 50 to 60 square inches of leaf are needed to develop one good-sized apple. Even more leaf surface than this is required to produce the food reserves that foster and support the blossoms for next year.

A well-grown apple leaf should be at least four inches long and from 2½ to 3½ inches wide. Four or five of such leaves will keep an apple steadily developing to a good size. More of them will make for exhibition fruit, and for a wealth of blossom the following year.

DISAPPOINTING

Unfortunately, leaves of this size are the exception rather than the rule on backyard apple trees, which is one reason why the fruit crop is so often disappointing. And not only are the leaves undersized, but they are very frequently distributed sparsely on the branches. You see so many thin, wand-like branches poorly furnished near their base, and the color often leaves a lot to be desired.

The reason for this is nearly always neglect and malnutrition. The vegetable plot gets all the manure available, and the flowers are dosed with fertilizers, but the poor old apple tree is expected to forage for itself. As a matter of fact, an apple tree is much more complex than any vegetable, and it deserves greater care.

HUNGRY TREE

When a tree is hungry, it sends up unmistakable danger signals. The leaves are undersized, pale, tinted, or discolored.

Footsloggers Feud, Go Separate Ways

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—A bitter Belgian and a footsore Frenchman trod separate paths yesterday after one charged the other with hitchhiking rides on what was supposed to be a marathon walk.

Werner Mahau, a 32-year-old dentist from Brussels, bathed his blistered feet after arriving here ahead of 21-year-old Laurent Olano, a French navy officer from the island of St. Pierre et Miquelon, and denied Olano's charge that he cheated.

"It's a lot of nonsense," Mahau said. "Maybe Laurent just can't keep up with me, n'est-ce pas?"

He said he "just got mad at the Frenchman and left him flat. But Olano, who arrived here yesterday somewhat later than his former 'buddy' said: 'Mahau got a little crazy with the publicity.'"

Mahau and Olano began their transcontinental stroll July 3 in Montreal. Everything went fine until they passed Fort William, Ont., when Olano accused Mahau of hitchhiking part of the way to Dryden, Ont.

He plans to walk to Vancouver, then south to Los Angeles, into Mexico and south America, and back up through the east coast of the United States to Montreal. Olano has a similar marathon.

The original idea of the walk was to promote Esperanto as an international language.

"Everybody is very kind, we haven't spent a cent on the way, but the average person doesn't know or seem to care about Esperanto," Mahau said.

Police Hunt Brutal Rapist

WINNIPEG (CP)—City police Wednesday launched an all-out search for a man who Tuesday night brutally raped a five-year-old girl as she returned home from a corner-store clutching an ice cream cone.

The attack came just after dusk and during a driving rain-storm. The child—tiny blonde daughter of Latvian parents—was less than 100 yards from her northern-central Winnipeg home when the attack took place in a lane.

She was found in the backyard of a Ross avenue home by Mrs. Katherine Chartrand, who heard the child crying. The girl was taken to hospital in a state of shock. Her condition Wednesday was good.

Police said they believe a man's jacket, found in the cramped space of a garbage canister near the scene, and the girl's description will lead them to the attacker.

Mrs. Chartrand told police she was sitting in her kitchen when she heard the girl crying.

"I went into the back yard and found the little girl prostrate in the mud," Mrs. Chartrand said. "She had a white kerchief around her neck. It was covered with blood. Her nose was bleeding and her arms were covered with gravel as if she'd been dragged across the ground."

It was believed the attacker fled on a bicycle.

Wife's Novel Earty, School Principal Fired

GILMANTON, N.H. (AP)—A young grammar school principal whose wife has written an earthy novel about life in a small New England town has been fired from his $3,000-a-year job.

"They told me it was because of my wife," said George Metalious, 32. "They don't like her book."

His wife, Grace, also 32, called the dismissal "an example of typical small-town intolerance."

"You live in a town, and there are patterns. The minute you deviate from the pattern, you're a freak. I wrote a book and that makes me a freak. They don't like that."

But school board members and some of this community's 800 residents disagreed.

Vigorously, they said Metalious' dismissal was "a personal matter" between him and the board, and was in no way connected with his wife's forthcoming book, "Peyton Place." Meanwhile, this tiny town is buzzing with speculation about the novel itself.

"To a majority of people who live here," added Mrs. Metalious, "it's a dirty book. Word has got around that it's a shocking book. People suddenly decided that George is not the type to teach their sweet, innocent children."

This Clears the Air

MR. JUSTICE WILSON'S decision in the contempt action over the Sommers-Sturdy case will be welcomed by the press throughout Canada for its guidance and for its clear restatement of the respective rights of the public, the press and all individuals in the contentions of a general election. Nor will its cautions be overlooked: they are as necessary to essential fairness as is the freeing of public right from disentanglement. His Lordship held that while the matter before him in the light of all the circumstances did not constitute contempt, public discussion under different circumstances might be that or a cause for libel. That is a fair warning.

One cannot do better than quote Mr. Justice Wilson's statement dealing with the crux of the matter. His Lordship said, in part:

"The plaintiff here has not only with direct reference to the case of Sommers versus Sturdy denied the charges made against him, he has alleged that those charges are part of a plot or conspiracy to which, of course, he must mean that the defendant is a party. He has further, still within the armour of legislative immunity, said that the chief witness to be called against him is a criminal, an extortionist. He has voiced a thinly veiled threat to have that witness arrested if he returns to British Columbia. He has wielded both the whitewash brush and the tar brush and it will become his to complain of the bare recital by the respondents here of a set of charges already known to the public.

"The last thing I want to do is to appear to condone trial by press rather than by the courts. A litigant or an accused person is entitled to present his case to a tribunal which has not been exposed to a barrage of ex parte statements relating to the subject matter of the cause before it. But it is not correct to say that every reference to a pending cause is objectionable, and a reference which may appear prima facie to be objectionable may be justified by special circumstances. The plaintiff stands as a candidate for the Legislature. He does so with the full knowledge that his character must be publicly discussed and the knowledge that his libel action is pending. He has put himself in the public eye and while this will not justify any act which can be construed as contempt of court, it makes inevitable some exploration of his record as a member and as a minister."

Continuing, His Lordship quoted from the words of another jurist on the function of free public opinion, as follows: "Democracy cannot be maintained without its foundation, free public opinion and free discussion throughout the nation of all matters affecting the state within the limits set by the criminal code and the common law."

That restores the sound perspective. The public, especially as voters, have every right to be made cognizant of the administration of public business in all of its branches. It can neither be blocked in that by civil writ nor may it abuse the privilege by unlicensed calumny against any person or interest. There must be common fairness all round. Within those limits, British Columbia's general election can now proceed in a clearer atmosphere. The provincial government may be challenged on the whole record. The administrative actions of the cabinet under all portfolios are now under review before the bar of public opinion at the point of its highest expression, the ballot box. It is in the public interest that the issues be met squarely and without equivocation on the part of the government. Its failure to respond at the last session and since to that challenge helped to precipitate what has followed. The public has the right to examine its own business. Nevertheless the Wilson judgment is no invitation to unrestrained focus on the contempt issue. The Sommers affair is only part of the larger issues that will occupy public minds in the election campaign. This includes the policies introduced by the government and its record in administration.

B.C. at the Grey Cup

A REPORT from Vancouver tells of plans to form a B.C. section for the Grey Cup parade in Toronto in November. The idea would be for various floats to depict aspects of provincial life in a joint display. The project might be comparatively costly, from $10,000 to $15,000, but it is hoped the provincial government will recognize the merit of the scheme and give it some financial assistance. Since Grey Cup enthusiasm ranks high across the country it is likely the plan will take concrete shape; it therefore behooves Victoria not to be left out of the picture.

Conspicuous by its absence at the Grey Cup celebrations in Vancouver last year was any float or other representation from this area. This was no single person's fault, nobody thought of it, but the omission was regretted afterwards. The Grey Cup parade rivals the football game itself and it has become a major TV spectacle. As a medium for advertising a city it spreads publicity all over the land. This was recognized by numerous large cities which sent floats long distances to the Vancouver parade last November. Victoria can scarcely afford to neglect an opportunity other communities sense as valuable to their fame and to their tourist appeal.

This city happily was represented at the CNE parade this month in which its float took second prize, no mean achievement in face of keen competition. A single entry in the forthcoming Toronto parade, 2,000 miles away, might be too much for civic authorities unless some other agency helped to sponsor it, but if arrangements are in motion for a joint B.C. entry then assuredly Victoria should be included. This is the capital city and if provincial funds are to be employed in connection therewith there is every warrant for its participation. One presumes that the city fathers will not let the chance slip for want of prompt and eager inquiries into the matter. A B.C. entry without Victoria would be like "Hamlet" without the prince.

Interpreting the News

Sweden Studies Inflation

By RALPH HEWINS
North American Newspaper Alliance

STOCKHOLM—Sweden, the Utopia of Europe in terms of materialism, is suffering a nasty economic jolt.

Not since 1941, when Sweden had to adopt self-sufficiency in order to counteract the wartime blockade, has she had to tighten her belt to the present extent.

The National Bank, which has always been slow to manipulate the bank rate and preferred other means of contracting credit expansion, has raised the rate of interest from 2% to 3% per cent within the last 12 months.

In July the National Bank instructed private banks to cut loans by 1 per cent and now a further 4 per cent cut is demanded in order to cope with the besetting European affliction, inflation.

Private investment is being further curbed by an increase in company tax.

The National Bank has persuaded a number of the main trade associations to increase premiums on hire-purchase, and talks described as "optimistic" are continuing with other credit institutions such as Jordbruksbanken (the agricultural bank) for the same purpose.

The coalition government of Social Democrats and Agrarians has put the brake on public expenditure on railroads, highways, telephones and telegraph and school building.

The cost-of-living index has risen six points in the last year, whereas the national resources have only increased 2 per cent, and in January the government declared that "there is no room for a real increase in wages."

But no "wage-stop" has been agreed, as in 1948-49 and 1952, and it is feared that the whole wage structure may crash at the end of the year.

The hardships are at present cushioned to some extent by an over-all increase of 12 per cent in wages in 1955 and by raising the monetary floor for the lowest paid workers in 1956.

Also the predominantly Social-Democratic government faces a general election in the autumn. It is accordingly bringing pressure to bear on the trade unions and other left wing bodies to postpone all-out agitation for bigger wage increases and to avoid precipitating industrial disturbances.

No strikes, such as recently disorganized neighboring Finland and Denmark, have broken out in Sweden since the metal workers, dockers and film operatives downed tools in 1945. It is realized that a serious stoppage of work in Sweden this summer might just tip the electoral scale.

A record number of bankruptcies, due more to the credit squeeze than the rise in the bank rate, pinpoints the anxious situation in which Sweden surprisingly finds herself.

Sweden is now chronologically ahead of other European countries in pricing herself out of world markets, which accentuates the anxiety.

Another explanation of Sweden's difficulties is the progressive liberalization of European and world trade.

Besides the familiar excuses, one wonders if another factor, which is seldom put into words, should not be taken into account. Is Sweden attempting too much?

Can a country of 7,000,000 people, with a hard climate, afford such luxuries as the big Lulea iron works, which is basically a political enterprise designed to combat Communism in the far north?

Such undertakings, which may well be justifiable in the long run, add up to a great strain on the economy and energy of the nation, especially when coupled with the very high standard of living as exemplified by the total abolition of slums and the splendid educational facilities at all levels.

The combination of confidence on all sides, organization of conflicting interests and delaying action is already saving Sweden from the more extreme consequences of her present economic plight and bodes well for a more orderly settlement of mounting difficulties than might be expected elsewhere.

"You Came Here Your Very Self!"

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

HE was peering round the composing room with a worried look, and when I asked him what he had lost he said he was searching for his favorite chair.

That was all; but what a lot it was. If he could not find it he would be in great discomfort. Not that his own seat—one of those low affairs which line-type operators affect—was specially curved to his backbone. Set beside the next one it would look like a twin. But to him his own seat meant mental ease.

That is what habit induces—peace of mind. Habit is perhaps the strongest force in man's daily life, and few people are immune from its growth. Even the man who wears a red tie as evidence of his radical instincts may be hidebound by personal custom.

Not everyone is affected the same way, naturally. Some people can work happily at an untidy desk, for example, while others must have every pencil and piece of paper precisely in a given spot. Paradoxically too the chap who scorns tidiness at work might raise the roof at home if his favorite pipe were not left always in its accustomed rack.

Women do not seem to be creatures of such habit as men. At least they are not beyond rearranging the furniture every so often just to give the room a new look, while men, poor backward souls, are content with the same view all the time.

But then it is men who, coming into the parlor in the dark, stumble over a couch that mysteriously has given itself a new priority of position. Habit, I suppose, is akin to superstition. That is to say its force is so great as to inhibit performance. Perhaps the printer who induced these thoughts would do as good a job of work in someone else's chair but the chances are he wouldn't, because some element necessary to him was missing.

A man I knew once changed his underwear by the calendar, not by the state of the weather. Come a certain date and into his red flannel he went; if he didn't when the due date fell he was sure he would catch cold—and he usually did.

Take the universal custom of drinking to people's health. As that paragon of etiquette the Earl of Chesterfield said: "Can there be anything in the world less relative to any other man's health than my drinking a glass of wine? Common sense, certainly, never pointed it out, but yet common sense tells me I must conform to it."

Because the habit is a superstitious one, stemming from the ancient religious rite of drinking to the gods and the dead.

Yes, men are creatures of habit, and involuntarily so. One scratches one's left eyebrow, perhaps or strokes one's nose—a favorite habit of many—while blithely believing that one's hands are in one's pockets. Or pokes a forefinger into a friend's breastbone, all unknowingly, each time one seeks to impress with an argument.

Needless to add also this is not a custom calculated to endear one to someone else.

Queer things habits, when you think about them. They tend to become one's master.

On the Record

Long Live the King!

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

IN retrospect I seem to have been at one convention and a coronation. In San Francisco (wonderful city for a coronation) delegates went through the usual rituals of a convention for two days, waiting for the real thing. Then, when the president's plane appeared in the skies and he and his lady landed to drive the 16 miles to the St. Francis hotel through tens of thousands of happy subjects the press and the television cameras deserted the hall, where the platform was right in the middle of being read. At last he, whom everybody had come for, was here, America's only legitimate and strictly constitutional sovereign.

All week the atmosphere of a coronation pervaded the city. Social events swamped the political—in fact there were no political events. Everybody with a great house or a handsome apartment was apparently giving a party. Some who came here from the Chicago convention had to buy new clothes, and not only because of the difference in climate.

The air of luxurious festival was enhanced by the fact that San Francisco's top hostesses top in elegance anything in Chicago and San Francisco is a continuous festival in itself. Americans like royalty and they like coronations. When Elizabeth II was crowned a British friend asked me sourly, "Whose Queen is she—yours or ours?"

A king is the repository of legend and myth. Legend and myth are not falsified. They are the poetry of truth.

It is very hard for parties to defeat kings. It takes revolutions to overthrow them, and only God can peacefully eliminate them.

Those who don't like Nixon will pray for Ike. So will those who do.

Reports from Ottawa

NOBODY has announced it yet, but the army is going to get its own air force.

In less than a year the plan has developed from wishful thinking to a project so firm that the government has asked De Havilland Aircraft of Toronto to produce a plane to meet the army's needs.

It is to be a short-range transport capable of carrying about 20 soldiers and their equipment, and so designed as to be able to operate from rough landing strips no bigger than a football field.

Generally speaking, it will be a big brother to the Beaver and the Otter, light transports developed by De Havilland for flying over bush country and under similarly difficult conditions. The prototype is scheduled to be finished in about a year, with assembly-line production following perhaps a year later. After exhaustive prototype tests. Thus it will be upwards of two years before the army gets its own air transport.

Officially, the army speaks of its soon-to-be flying branch as its "air component", a designation which may be in part a euphemism to avoid any unnecessary ruffling of the air force's feelings.

In the past the RCAF has provided practically all the army's air transport. Army flying has been confined to light planes for spotting artillery fire, and to a couple of helicopters. But late last year Lt. Gen. Howard D. Graham, chief of the general staff, stated the army's need to have its air transport under its own control, and disclosed the army's hopes of establishing its own air arm.

In June Defence Minister Campney told Parliament that the army's aim was to achieve a high degree of "air portability" by using fixed-wing planes which could take off and land in a short distance. He indicated that achievement of this aim would relegate paratroops to a relatively unimportant role.

This plane will be used mainly to move soldiers, equipment and supplies from army and corps areas in the rear to divisional areas immediately behind the fighting areas. Thus the plane will fill the role of trucks and troop carriers in World War II. Indeed, the army already refers to it as an "air truck".

In divisional areas, passengers and cargo will be offloaded into conventional wheeled or tracked vehicles, or into helicopters, for transport to forward areas.

The reason the army wants its own air force, I'm told, is that dependence on the RCAF incurs the risk of the RCAF being unable to supply planes in the numbers and at the times and places required by the army. Under conditions of atomic and thermonuclear warfare, when men and material must be dispersed over greater areas than in conventional warfare, the army must have air transport, and it argues that it must also have operational control over this transport.

The army, short of officers as it is, would be quite happy to have RCAF personnel seconded to the army to fly the army planes. But on the other hand, the air force is short of pilots itself, and it may be quite happy to tell the soldiers to fly their own kites.

Election Platforms

By PETER BRUTON

ELECTION platforms issued last week by the provincial CCF, Liberal, and Conservative parties are disappointing documents. Nicely worded to be sure—but beneath the words is very little meat. In any election campaign this side of the Iron Curtain all parties must try to woo those voters—the great majority of voters—who do not hold membership cards in any particular party.

Glittering election promises are made by the various parties in an attempt to win the votes of the "independents."

This reporter could be completely off-base but it would appear as if the opposition hopes to gain the independent vote not through its pre-election promises but by insinuations over the Sturdy-Sommers case and what Premier Bennett describes as "smears."

The nebulous quality of the election platforms would seem to bear this assertion out.

As can be expected, the CCF reaffirmed its socialist ideals by issuing a declaration favoring public over private enterprise. It has all been said before.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan called for public power, public forest management, government assistance for low-income housing, public distribution of natural gas and public car insurance.

The Liberal platform was of an even less concrete character, and in at least one instance frankly defeatist.

"Respect the democratic function of the opposition, as criticism is the symbol of a free society," declares one of the 12 planks in the party's platform.

One wonders if the Liberal party would have included this if it were felt it had a sporting chance of becoming the government after Sept. 19.

Other parts of the Liberal program, outlined by leader Arthur Laing, were:

"Give true road value . . . by building better roads;" "Guard against dissipation of our natural resources;" "Honor our responsibility to the aged, sick, and poor;" "Meet disaster to agriculture with direct action;" "Revitalize the provincial advisory committee on Indian Affairs;" and "Reduce taxes, beginning with immediate reduction of the provincial sales tax to four per cent."

Apart from the reduction of the sales tax, just exactly what is there in the Liberal platform? The answer is words.

The sales tax reduction, which Premier Bennett says will "wreck" B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, would mean a total saving to taxpayers of about $12,000,000.

The saving can be better understood by residents of the province when it is explained that they will save $1 more for every $100 spent.

Finally, the Conservative platform which is a little better than that of the Liberals but not too much.

If a Conservative government is elected, and at present the party has no members in the legislature, it will provide a fund to make low-interest loans to farmers; will extend adult education at the university level; religious education for those school children whose parents wish them to have it; make fair redistribution of electoral constituencies; have a full examination of forest administration based on the Sloan report when it comes down; appoint an independent highway commission; and increase grants to municipalities.

All three platforms contain other points not mentioned above.

But the big thing in which the voters will have final say is whether the particular programs sound more attractive than a continuation of the programs and policies already put into effect by B.C.'s Social Credit government.

On the surface, it would appear as if Premier Bennett has very little to worry about.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A fellow down the road has discovered on returning from his vacation that he forgot to shut off the paper, the milk and the crabgrass.

As the doctor hovered anxiously nearby, a five-year-old, being examined after a severe fall, stepped out of bed and began to walk—clutching both hands tightly against his sides.

"What's the matter?" asked the doctor. "Can't you move your arms, son?"

"No," said the boy.

"Do your hands hurt?"

"No."

"Will you try to move them for me?"

"Uh-uh," replied the boy. "I've got to hold up my pyjama pants."

Letters to the Editor

Backs the Shamrocks

May I congratulate Whitey Severson, coach of the Victoria Shamrocks, the team and directors, on the stand they took in removing the team from the floor while playing the Vancouver Pilseners at Vancouver last Friday night. I feel that I speak for the majority of the Victoria fans when I say that it was a desperate measure taken in the hope of saving lacrosse on the coast.

The refereeing has been so consistently bad for so long that the game has got completely out of control and become a brawl. That the teams can and will play a good clean game when properly refereed was fully demonstrated when the Shamrocks played Peterborough for the Mann-Cup last year when we had Mr. Joe Murphy as referee. He called the game as fair and just to both teams and would stand no nonsense from either side and he had good, clean lacrosse which was a pleasure and a joy to watch.

You have only to be a regular fan, as my husband and I have been for the last five years, to realize that the falling off of the gate is not that people are not interested in the sport, but that they are utterly fed up with the inconsistency and biased refereeing.

(Mrs.) E. L. HAMMOND.

Not the First

I have been reading the article entitled "PGE Carries Fares North" in your paper. After some two generations it is not surprising that some inaccuracies should creep into the history of this enterprise.

An investigation in the provincial archives would, I imagine, confirm that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was not the first to look northward from Vancouver. This company was anticipated by about two years by the Howe Sound & Northern Railway, the management of which built a number of miles of railway in the Squamish and Cheakamus valley with the object ultimately of building to Fort George—as it was then called—and providing a southerly outlet for the Grand Trunk Pacific. Their chief engineer was the late Ernest Cleveland. This able engineer surveyed a route along the shores of Anderson and Seton lakes and had the satisfaction a very few weeks later, of learning that a Grand Trunk Pacific survey party had found his stakes along the only feasible route and had gone home.

The owners of this railway—Messrs. J. C. Keith, Arthur McEvoy and J. C. Gill—later sold it out to the Pacific Great Eastern and eventually it found its way into the hands of the taxpayers. When the Canadian National Railways absorbed both the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern Railways it was the opinion of many competent people that the latter line nullified any advantages that the PGE might have as a through route from Prince George to Vancouver. Bearing in mind what the PGE has cost the taxpayers of this province, and anything that may be said to the contrary notwithstanding, it still remains to be seen whether these people were right.

Illustrious Example

Mr. Albert W. Reid's analysis of the political situation in British Columbia was a forthright and honest estimate of the personalities concerned, and of conditions and happenings which are obvious to all fair-minded persons. He assuredly arrived at a logical conclusion with which numerous voters will agree, in stating that the present government has done a commendable job in administering our affairs and rightly deserves a renewal of its mandate.

The thousands of former Liberals and Conservatives who now vote Social Credit in such overwhelming numbers are following the example of our illustrious leader, Winston Churchill, who frequently changed his ideas as conditions warranted. He nevertheless continued to influence a large number of voters. Only the stupid and the dead never change their minds.

Could Happen Anywhere

I have no axe to grind in favor of our smiling and apparently self-satisfied premier. The fact remains that taxes and the cost of living have gone up rather than down during his regime.

However, I do think it most unfair that Finlayson should blame him for a rock slide on the PGE. It might happen anywhere through newly broken ground and with the help of heavy rains and frosts a lot more rocks will tumble onto the tracks next spring.

There are all kinds of wire around where men have been blasting and you can give "Ralf Chet" my love and remind him that we're not living in Cyprus or Red China, thank God.

Let's ignore that aspect.

Writing on the Wall

This "rush" election is going to prove the most momentous in the political history of British Columbia.

It is a last stand, or chance, that the people as a whole—will have to retain, or regain, a voice in their own affairs. The present prosperity in British Columbia is due entirely to the force of economic conditions the world over, and it is that force that is sending "politics"—as such—into a tail-spin.

It would be a credit to the intelligence of all the opposition leaders and their following if they would read the "writing on the wall" and sink their differences—but not their principles—for the time being, in order to bring about a balance of justice in the affairs of the province. They could remember that they are working for the helpless ones, those who—through the dictatorial ways of Mr. W. A. C. Bennett and his cabal—have lost the "power" of the franchise.

The only savior for the people today is for them to restore the proper parliamentary system of both debate and legislation, in the open and above-board way. They can do that yet by all opposition running under that heading and thus avoid once again a minority slipping through to power, as has recently been done, because of the "splintered" accounting. After their election to the house they could all work in a more efficacious way for the principles of both their following and their own.

Dollars Bedevil Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Treasury chief Harold Macmillan warned Britain Wednesday the dangers facing her economy are as serious in the long run as the current crisis over the Suez

He told a press conference that the August figures for the sterling area's gold and dollar reserves—a barometer of economic health—will show "quite a substantial fall."

The chancellor of the exchequer said that while Britain's own trade figures are "satisfactory," the fall in dollar reserves in the area as a whole "are yet one more reminder that we live and work very near the margin of safety."

He said Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal had "dramatized in an instant" the interdependence of East and West.

He stressed the importance of recent events in Egypt to Eastern countries which depend on the effective working of their oil resources and the continued investment of Western money.

This is not colonialism, this is co-operation," Macmillan said.

the train at gunpoint and carried into town on an old stage coach where they were nearly lynched.

"Whispering Ace" Bennett, "Curly" Chetwynd and "Eun Again" Gunderson were pictured on wanted posters throughout the town.

Nooses were placed around their necks before the townsfolk released and escorted them to the Rat Trap Saloon.

At Quesnel, the tumultuous reception was the same, although perhaps not as colorful.

Premier Bennett unwound and gave a razzle dazzle speech which caught just about everybody by surprise.

"We will not rest until we have that railroad extended up to Alaska," promised the premier.

MARS NEARER

The planet Mars will be only 35,000,000 miles from earth during 1956.

"We can't do it alone, but we are only too anxious to co-operate with other governments not only with our federal government, but with our neighbors south of the line."

"Great shall be the future of the north."

"Only portion of the people of this great province who is not happy today is the out-and-out pessimist," he continued. "Men who are today in public life once stated this extension would never be built."

"I am amazed that they would even run in this election—after such a statement."

This was an obvious reference to Liberal Leader Arthur Laing.

The premier also paid tribute to Harry Perry, former MLA for Fort George, who was a member of the official party.

"If the legislators of the past had listened to Harry Perry they would still be the government," he declared.

Wednesday's fun was a far cry from the troubles which

The huge dankside just outside Horseshoe Bay and the resultant talk of sabotage by political opponents of the government was forgotten yesterday as everything ran smoothly.

The PGE is no longer a railroad which starts nowhere and finishes nowhere. It has arrived.

Navy Fliers Win RCAF Pay Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—Flying pay increases announced Aug. 20 for armed services aircrew members affect almost 60 "lower deck" personnel in the navy.

The navy said Wednesday 16 non-commissioned ranks are serving as observers in Avenger anti-submarine aircraft of the RCN or in related training duties at HMCS Shearwater, the naval air station at Dartmouth, N.S.

Another 12 are specializing as airborne sonar operators with the navy's anti-submarine helicopter unit.

Flying pay for men in both categories has been raised to $75 a month from the previous flat rate paid to all aircrew of $30 monthly.

A total of about 320 RCN officers are affected by the flying pay increases.

U.S. Demands Dismissal Of Red UN Employee

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has demanded the ouster of Rostislav Shapovalov, second secretary of the Russian mission to the United Nations, the state department disclosed Wednesday.

Officials said the action was based on testimony of former Communist army Capt. Michael Shatov before the senate internal security sub-committee valov tried to blackmail him into returning to the Soviet Union.

Simultaneously, the department told U.N. secretary general Dag Hammarskjöld—it would demand the recall of Aleksei Petukhov, a Russian employee of the U.N. secretariat, if he persists in molesting former Soviet citizens now in the United States.

Shatov had pointed to Petukhov as another Soviet official who was conducting a campaign to get former Russian citizens to return to the Soviet Union.

The state department said its investigation revealed that Shapovalov made "direct contact" with Russian emigres in the U.S. in an effort to get them to return home. It said Petukhov was involved in these efforts officials here to contact former but it could not determine he Russian citizens but a Soviet employee at the U.N. is barred made such direct contacts.

It is legal for Soviet embassy from such action.

Plans for Underground Wiring Slowed to Minimum This Year

IT'S BEST FOR YOU

The B.C. Electric is expected to call tenders soon for the first phase of its four-year program of placing wiring underground in 30 downtown blocks.

As a result, it is now anticipated at city hall that a minimum of city work will be done this fall and that allowance will be made in next year's budget for a full program.

The B.C. Electric program will see all power poles and overhead lines removed by the end of 1959 from the area bounded by Belleville, Blanshard, Herald and Government. The first phase of the program, to be undertaken this fall and winter, will be to install ducts on Blanshard, from Herald to Burdett.

The committee also recommended that funds for the work be made available from the sale of city-owned property.

But the city solicitor informed council that a plebiscite would be required to spend the money in this way, and council referred the recommendation back to the committee for further and poles will be the third year of the program. All the work will be carried out in fall and winter months to help local employment and avoid tourist-season interference with traffic.

Public Reaction Known Today

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The reaction of the investing public to the government's new long-term conversion loan should be known some time today.

The books open this morning on the $350,000,000 issue of 4 1/2 per cent, 30-year bonds that are being offered in voluntary exchange for bonds of the fifth victory loan which mature in 1961.

The new issue, non-callable for 40 years, is being offered at 97, which gives it a yield of 4.75 per cent.

Not all the holders will be able to effect the exchange, however, as the offering is limited to about one-third of the outstanding Fifth Victory bonds.

While it is not expected that the long-term bond will make a great appeal to the individual portfolio, the market experts feel it will be a winner for corporations and trust companies seeking to place funds for long term purposes.

Because of this, Finance Minister Harris may be in a position to close the books on the conversion issue fairly quickly after the opening.

cent and offered below par is to be issued next week by the Mersey Paper Co.

The issue will consist of 2,000,000 shares of $50 par and will be offered to the public at 49 1/2.

Mersey Paper recently changed hands and is now understood to be controlled by Bowater's Ltd., the big British newspaper manufacturing firm.

DIVIDEND RAISED

Canadian Pacific has increased its annual rate of dividend from $1.50 to $1.75 a year. The first semi-annual payment at the higher rate will be made with the Oct. dividend.

BONDS STRENGTHEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Government bonds were slightly stronger in quiet trading on Montreal Tuesday. Corporate and provincial issues were quiet and unchanged.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Unfavorable harvest weather in the West contributed to a firm tone in all prices.

Commercial demand was thin and included mostly routine shipper buying in oats and barley. Rye moved up.

No overseas business was reported.

BRITAIN SEEKS IRON

British and other European steel manufacturers are running their expert eyes on what is regarded as one of Canada's biggest sources of iron ore.

The deposits lie in the untapped territory near Ungava Bay in northern Quebec and are owned by Oceanic Iron Ore Co. of Canada.

In one of the deposits mapping and drilling last year indicated a reserve of 275,000,000 tons of 82-per-cent magnetic iron. The deposit is known as the Morgan Ranger and would lend itself to open-pit working.

To the northeast of the proved ore body, further iron formation occurs but its extent is not known.

TRANS-CANADA TO REPAY GOVERNMENT BY YEAR END

TORONTO (CP) — Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., said Wednesday the company's financing plans call for repayment of an $80,000,000 government loan by the end of the year.

A spokesman said: "Plans for a date by or short of the year's end, but whether we will be able to realize this objective is only speculation so far."

The spokesman said published reports that a Nov. 1 repayment date is planned are "speculation" and "muddy the water" as far as the public is concerned.

The company's objective was to repay the government as soon as it can but "no one in Trans-Canada would confirm such a repayment date at this time."

Bralorne Improves

VANCOUVER — Trading was on a slightly more active note and the tendency was upward.

MacMillan & Bloedel stiffened at the close to $38 1/2, while B.C. Forest Products recovered 50 cents, at $15 1/2.

Western Plywood was also in demand at $25 on rumors of some secondary financing in the east.

Nickel on Downtide

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed on Wednesday on a lower note for the third time this week. Scattered issues lost a point or more but declines were generally fractional.

International Nickel dropped two points as Aluminum reacted 1 1/2 in a weak base metal session. St. Lawrence Corporation led the papers down with a one-point loss.

In the refining oils B.A. backed off 1/2 trading ex-dividend while Canadian and Imperial dipped 1/2. Trans Mountain Pipelines fell 1/2. Galt and Calgary Power firms 1/2.

Bell Telephone and Shawinigan slipped minor fractions in a mixed utilities group. Montreal jumped 1 1/2 but the rest of the bank section was fractionally easier.

Support Lacking

LONDON (Reuters) — The stock market marked time awaiting an expected government announcement on the domestic economic situation.

Gilt-edged securities were mixed in quiet dealings after their recent advance.

Dollar stocks were lower in adjustment to a decline on Wall street overnight. Industrials had no decided tendency although selective support brought scattered gains.

Kaffirs moved upward in better activity. Coppers rallied from initial dullness and moved erratically.

New York Declines

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted its third straight decline Wednesday as a late rally ran out of steam.

Losses ranged to four points and gains were generally under two. Much of the market moved narrowly as many investors remained on the sidelines until after the three-day Labor Day weekend.

Standard Oil New Jersey was the day's most active stock, off 1/2 at 55 1/2 on $100 shares.

International Nickel, down 1 1/2, was the big loser among Canadian issues on the New York Stock Exchange. The only gainer was Walker-Goodrich, up 1/2. Hudson Bay Mining lost 1/2. Granby Mining slipped 1/2 and McIntyre was off 1/2.

Among Canadian issues on the American Exchange, Loblaw led downward losses with a fall of 1/2. Shawinigan dropped 1/2. Also lower were Great Western, Grange Oil and Scurry, Rainbow Petroleum, off 3/4.

Bessent May Hold Up Brooklyn's 'Old Men'

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UP)—The talk is all about the "old men" but it may be a hard-luck young pitcher who holds up the Brooklyn Dodgers in the closing stages of the National League pennant race.

Certainly much depends on the performance of such "old pros" as Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese, Duke Snider, Roy Campanella et al. But the final proof probably will be in the pitching.

Which, by the way, he has been going, makes Don Bessent figure to be one of the major deciding factors as they hammer down the wire.

Dodger hopes faltered when Clem Labine, the number one fireman of the Brooks, suffered a wrist fracture as he was struck by a pitched ball. Yet don't overlook the fact that the spunky Bessent has taken up the slack by pitching 25 straight scoreless innings in relief.

Bessent is called "The of a thin, sharp face. The right-hander from Jacksonville, Fla., also is called "Mr. Peepers" because of the mild manner in which he peers through his glasses. Manager Walt Alton calls him when there's trouble.

One thing seems certain, even to the pressurized "old pros" on the club. This is that Bessent won't fold up when the going gets rough. The 25-year-old six-footer has seen too many tough times already to quail in adversity.

The New York Yankees signed him originally when he graduated from high school and he bore up their expectations when he completed a 22-7 mark at La Grange, Ga. The next season, at Norfolk, he was 11-2 when misfortune struck for the first time.

"I was pitching and I felt a sharp pain, he recalls quietly. "I had torn two vertebrae apart and pinched a nerve."

Bessent was paralyzed from the waist down and, after an operation, spent a year in a cast and a brace. He missed all of 1952 because of that bone grafting operation—and the Dodgers drafted him from the Birmingham roster.

"It was a calculated risk," says vice-president Buzzy Ba-

They knew he had talent. The question was whether he could come back. But he did.

Don posted an 11-10 mark at St. Paul in 1953, 18-7 in 1954 and was 8-5 when the Dodger pitching wobbled last season and they called him up along with Roger Craig. Don upheld their judgment by winning eight in a row with what Campanella describes as "a real good sinker," a curve, fast ball and fine change up. But control is his main forte.

Big things were expected of Don this spring but he was sidelined in March with a groin injury, underwent another make his first start until late May. Now, however, he is roaring back in the stretch just as he did last season.

When he was in the Yankee chain, Don Reveals, it was former Yankee star Spud Chandler who helped a great deal in improving his pitching.

Last fall, in the series, Don pitched only three and one-third innings in three games. This fall, he hopes, he'll get a big chance to bite the hand which fed him.

Meanwhile, as the "old pros" battle Milwaukee down to the wire, it's the hard-luck young man from Florida who may be the deciding factor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The U.S. foreign minister today blamed the United States in his memoirs, claiming that the U.S. had been negligent in its defense of Pearl Harbor. # Greed Spelt Death To Acid-Thrower

He Thought Victim Just Erring Husband

NEW YORK (UP)—The thug who blinded Victor Riesel for a $500 fee from mobster Johnny Dio thought he was ambushing an unfaithful husband at the time of the attack, authorities said Wednesday.

He was murdered nearly four months later because he demanded $50,000 more upon learning the true identity of his victim, U.S. attorney Paul S. Williams said.

Williams said Abraham Telvi, 21, thought he was a splashing entrepreneur of an orange business named "Marshall" when he maimed the crusading labor columnist April 5 near Times square.

TALKED TOO MUCH

Telvi later signed his own death warrant by boasting of increasing his free and taking too much," Williams said.

"He kept bothering the high-ups for more money," he said. "He was too hot. He was told he would be properly rewarded in two weeks. The two-week period ended on July 28, and Telvi was killed."

Telvi was shot on Times square after receiving a $500 fee for blinding Riesel, Williams said.

The FBI has said Telvi was killed because acid splashed on his face would have made him living evidence in the Riesel case. But Williams said this was only a minor factor in Dio's about battle to keep his grip on the garment industry.

LIFE OF CRIME

Williams made these disclosures at the arraignment of Dio and three others arrested with him by the FBI Tuesday.

Johnny Dio's arrest marked one of the few times he has tripped up in a remarkable life of crime that began when he was a lower east side juvenile pushcart fruit thief. He went on from that to shaking down children for pennies when he was only 15.

The handsome 42-year-old racketeer whose family name is Dioguardi rose to the high ranks of the underworld. The most recent list of his activities included a monopoly of the sale of shoulder pads to New York dress manufacturers; a sewing machine racket; large Florida and New York real estate, night club and restaurant holdings; and a labor relations consulting firm named Equitable Research Associates, through which he has sold protection to garment makers and terrorized those that would not pay up.

Dio is known to have used beatings, stabbings, death threats, truck sabotaging and acid baths of merchandise to intimidate those who would not pay.

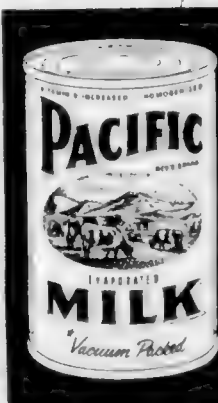

When Thomas A. Dewey was a crime-busting district attorney in the 1930s, he wrecked Dio's effort to seize control of the New York trucking industry.

B.C. Election Roundup

Cregory Threatens To Take the Gloves Off

It's a bare-knuckled fight now on, Victoria Liberal candidate George Gregory warned last night.

The young man who sat as a Liberal in the legislature, and who was retained by David Sturdy in the now famous slander action brought by former lands and forests minister R. E. Sommers, relinquished his brief in that issue yesterday.

"I have got my gloves off at last," Mr. Gregory told The Daily Colonist.

"Acting as I have been as Mr. Sturdy's solicitor since last December, I have been unable to comment as freely as I would have liked on the government's handling of the charges of misconduct made against the former minister of lands and forests. As a member of the legislature, my duty was to demand that a full judicial inquiry be held and to give my reasons for making the demand: as Mr. Sturdy's solicitor, I was to put the civil case foremost, he said in a formal statement.

"Mr. Bennett's calling of a general election before the action had come to trial has made it impossible for me to perform both duties without conflict between them, and I therefore asked Mr. Sturdy to relieve me of the responsibility of acting for him. He has been generous enough to agree that my first duty lay to the people of British Columbia and he has retained Thomas Dohn to carry on the case for him, thereby leaving me free to take to trial before the voters the greatest issue of all in this election, the integrity of the present administration."

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will invite all city residents to the coming election to share the platform during a public meeting in Central Junior high school Sept. 13.

Two more all-candidate meetings have been announced for Saanich, where Vancouver Island Dairymen's association has invited all choices to the Royal Oak Strawberry Vale community association has issued an invitation for a similar meeting in their community hall the next evening, and Saanich Voters and Elk Lake Rate payers associations will hold a joint all-candidate meeting in Lake Hill hall Sept. 11.

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and all CCF candidates in Greater Victoria will speak in Central Junior high school Sept. 4.

At least seven new faces will be seen in the B.C. Legislature as a result of the Sept. 19 provincial election. Four new members will come from new ridings—one each from Burnaby, Delta, North Vancouver and Peace River. Former finance minister Einar Gunderson may be a candidate in Peace River, held by Social Credit last time.

The second Peace River member will also be a new M.L.A. since the member in the last house, C. W. Parker, is running in Cowichan New castle against CCF leader Robert Strachan.

Vincent Seghr and Rupert Haggren of the CCF are not seeking reelection in Revelstoke and Grand Forks—Greenwood, respectively. Mrs. Haggren is being carried by the CCF.

Guilt or innocence of R. E. Sommers is not the most vital issue in the present election campaign, Saanich CCF candidate Frank Snowsall said yesterday.

"It is important that the men holding such key positions in our public life be above suspicion," he said. "But we must not allow the Sommers case to be a smokescreen to hid from us the appalling conditions existing under the Sovern mismanagement of our forests."

Mr. Snowsall said the CCF would insist that one acre be planted for every acre of timber cut, a policy which, he claimed, is not being carried out at present.

NANAIMO Peter Maffeo, a man who works in the pulp and paper industry, has been named by acclamation to contest this riding for the Liberals.

Other candidates named recently.

CCF chose Mrs. Grace McTavish, Neuman Hill and William Preece in Vancouver Point Grey. Liberals named James Lehman in Cariboo and Ralph Pomeroy in North Peace River.

Progressive Conservative leader Dean Fenderson charged here that widespread "padding" exists in the construction of highways in British Columbia.

Speaking to Chilliwack party members at Abbotsford parish hall, Fenderson said he and his party intend to strip off the camouflage concealing the true record of the present provincial government.

When this is done, Fenderson said the people will find that the claim that the people are getting a good return from natural resources is "false" and that the tax and development bill has been "misrepresented."

VANCOUVER Leaders of three provincial political parties have accepted invitations to speak at about a Sept. 12 meeting here.

of a 2000 number of civil servants.

The CCF leader said a Social Credit budget claim that the public debt had been reduced from $100,000,000 to $100,000,000 was a public speech it had been reduced from about $200,000,000 to about $100,000,000.

premier had quoted the figure $175,000,000.

"If they deceive you on these things when you trust them," he asked.

Mr. Strachan also attacked the government for making backroom timber deals. He said the CCF party supported a continuing of further forest management studies.

German Pilots To Train Here Next Spring

OTTAWA (UPI)—The first German trainee pilots coming to Canada's new flying school will arrive early next spring, a defense spokesman said Wednesday.

He said the Germans would be the first of an expected 100 to 150 trainees to come to Canada to train in the new flying school.

Canada's plan to train the German pilots was part of the 1955 agreement between the two countries and a commitment to other NATO members under the old program.

But it has proved more than 10 years in the making.

Pole Cutter Crushed, Dies Later

COURTENAY—A 15-year-old pole cutter was fatally injured yesterday at Brown's river near here.

Richard James was using a pole. The pole struck a snag and the man was crushed.

He died later in Courtenay hospital. His wife, Ethel, lives at Royston.

NANAIMO—An elderly man will face a charge of murder of the two Quilman brothers when he appears at the fall assizes here next week.

Daniel Francis O'Connor was charged, after release from Esquimalt in the shooting of Daniel George and William Hugh Parker.

The man threatened the younger, Daniel, 16, with a rifle, but the elder brother, 25, intervened, knocked O'Connor down, and held him until police arrived. Both brothers were severely wounded.

NANAIMO—A Nanaimo woman, Mrs. Doreen Downey, was fined a total of $65 in police court yesterday after she pleaded guilty to using obscene language in a public place and breaking a window.

Mrs. Kathleen Laidler, the complainant, said in a statement that the accused drew up in a taxi, called her filthy names and broke a window above the entrance to the court. She said she was a judge. Police said Mrs. Downey appeared under the influence of liquor at the time.

"You should be thoroughly ashamed of yourself," said Magistrate Lionel Reay.

Dump Keeps Blazing

CAMPBELL RIVER—The volunteer fire department here has spent 248 hours at the old garbage dump during the year fighting a succession of fires underground.

Last night the village commissioners voted compensation of $172 to the volunteers, which works out at $100 an hour.

When the commissioners voted a new dumping ground some months ago, the old one was covered in by bulldozers. But fire has plagued the place.

NANAIMO—Mike Farano, who is to prepare a mammoth cake to celebrate B.C.'s birthday in Nanaimo in 1958, returned from a special two-week course in Chicago yesterday.

Mike is to prepare a cake 25 feet long and about 15 feet high, which will depict the history of the province and its various well-known landmarks. One will be the Legislative Buildings at Victoria.

The base of the cake will represent the geographical contours of British Columbia.

Property Devalued By Smoke

By R. O. MARRION
Colonist City Hall Reporter

The recent series of articles published by The Daily Colonist on Victoria's smoke and under-maintenance had a sequel yesterday in a sharply worded demand for city council action.

"Stand up and be counted, gentlemen. Prove whether you protect the general tax payers or are simply stooges for the smoke-producing big interests," wrote three owners of a converted apartment house on George road.

Seamus Dean, A. Dean and Dorothy Smith, writing to the council, said they were "exposed" by the city's demand for enforcement of the smoke by law, particularly the clause for combustion products detrimental to the property of others of a nuisance to them.

EFFORTS BEING MADE

Informed of the letter to the mayor and council officials of B.C. Forest Products indicated that efforts were being made to eliminate the smoke from the mill.

Three groups, they said, were working on vapor abatement research for the company's plywood plant.

Smokes are being made by the company's sawmill work by an engine, engineering consultant and on temperature control in the three plywood dryers in an effort to reduce the temperature and hold it constant.

The makers of the dryers of the problem of vapor discharge and possible methods of reducing it, and examination by the Vancouver B.C. Pine Company in cooperation with B.C. Forest Products.

KEITH MACDONALD hopes to be a doctor

Educator Returns To School

Public health educator of the Victoria-Esquimalt health district for the past seven years, Keith MacDonald did his last day's work in that capacity yesterday.

Mr. MacDonald is going back to the University of British Columbia to study for a doctorate in medicine.

He was an instructor in the agriculture department of the university when he was chosen as public health educator for this district in 1949.

IN FAR EAST

Mr. MacDonald was given leave from his Vancouver post from 1950 to 1951 to serve as public health educator with the World Health Organization in Formosa and Burma.

He is married and has two children, both boys.

Black Ball Ferry Showing Interest

First and biggest move in completing a multi-million-dollar road network to the north-end of Vancouver Island will be started "sometime next year," Highways Minister P. A. Gallagher announced yesterday.

He said the government and Alaska Pine and Cellulose companies had reached an agreement in principle on joint construction of the island highway from Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill.

Port McNeill is already connected to Port Hardy by road, and Mr. Gallagher said the Black Ball Ferry company is "definitely interested" in establishing a kaituma Port Hardy ferry when the link has been completed.

Department engineers will be sent to the area, as quickly as possible, to choose a route. Mr. Gallagher said a coastal route between Kelsey Bay and Port McNeill would be the shortest but might be too costly because of the rocky coastline.

ALTERNATE ROUTE

An alternate route about four miles south of Kelsey Bay, travel west through "miles of forest" to Nimpkish river, and over a mountain ridge to the coast, and then on the coast to Port McNeill.

This way, he said, the road might be 60 miles long. The minister had no figures on road costs and said share of costs with the company had not yet been determined.

Present road from Port McNeill to Port Hardy also goes to Coal Harbour and Port Alberni. Mr. Gallagher said extensions farther west to San Josef and Hoberg would come later.

Logger 'Takes Over'

Sacred Meeting Ends in Uproar

Esquimalt Social Credit meeting was taken over by a fast-talking logger asking many questions about forest management here last night.

Jim Gillespie, Esquimalt logger and Herbert J. Bouch, social credit candidate for Esquimalt, locked in a shouting match that completely demolished a question answer period following the speeches.

Minister of Labor Lyle Wicks refused to discuss what the Social Credit stand is or will be on former minister of lands and forests R. E. Sommers and his slander against David Sturdy, Vancouver lawyer.

Mr. Bouch, disgusted by opposition attacks, would only say "Sommers is an unproven proved guilty."

Both speakers spoke in glowing terms of the work done by Social Credit in the past four years and said that the "snap election" had been called because of pressure from opposition "every day in the past four sessions."

Leaders in Saanich, Mr. Wicks, and Saanich member of the House of Commons, Mr. Wicks, said that the "snap election" had been called because of pressure from opposition "every day in the past four sessions."

Anyone in Saanich who votes the "old line parties," Progressive Conservative or Liberal, said Mr. Tisdale, "might as well stay home."

The Saanich M.A. of the last legislative session declared.

Saanich returned to a two-party system at the last election. There are only two ways to elect a representative of socialism: Your Social Credit government has proposed free enterprise across the board.

Questioned why someone from south of British Columbia was asked to speak in the Saanich district, Mr. Tisdale replied: "To prevent this."

Political Rallies Tonight

Swim Boats Needed

More boats will be required to accompany the record number of competitors in tomorrow's two-mile swim from Hapland on Elk lake to the Beaver lake beach.

Saanich police last night appealed to residents to donate a sufficient number of rowboats so that each swimmer could be accompanied for safety.

Persons willing to offer boats for the race are asked to inform the municipal police.

A total of 58 swimmers has entered for the races in three age groups: 14 and under, 15 and 16, and 17 and 18.

Cups will be awarded to the first boy and first girl in each of the races, and the Golden Jubilee trophy will be awarded to the fastest swimmer with the fastest time.

Anna Extends Strait Season

Vancouver housewife Anna Hansen kept alive the waiting interest in the season's Strait swimming yesterday by announcing her intentions to make a solo bid from the 1000-yard starting line at 1:30 p.m. from Esquimalt.

She dropped from the mass start swim last Sunday after 10 hours, but last night she was to make a solo bid from the 1000-yard starting line at 1:30 p.m. from Esquimalt.

Her navigator will be Bud Phillips.

City Police Catch Children Running from Stolen Cars

Three suspected teenaged car thieves, including a young girl, were arrested early yesterday by police after they ran from a car reported stolen a short while before.

John A. Ross, 630 Rothwell, telephoned police at 4:10 a.m. to say that his car had just been stolen and was being driven away from his place towards the city.

The car was soon spotted on Alton street along with another one previously reported stolen, and two boys and a girl ran from them in various directions.

Steps, Ramp To Beach Due Soon

Plans have been completed for a concrete ramp, platform and steps to the beach from the Dallas shifftop at the foot of Marlborough.

The new approach to the beach will be built as part of this year's $250,000 capital improvement program.

The ramp will run down to a large, semi-circular platform about 10 feet above the beach where benches will be provided.

A similar approach is planned at the foot of Moss, although a final decision has not been made on whether the descent to the platform there will be by ramp or steps.

Two Victoria mothers of preschool, handicapped children have written to the District Council asking to fund other parents with the same problem in a cooperative group.

Mrs. Jean N. van at 2985, and Mrs. Helen Ward at 4484, asked that anyone interested telephone them. "In the hope that we could get together and discuss our similar problems."

As far as could be learned yesterday Victoria has no special kindergarten or school classes for deaf children.

A school board official said that a mother specializing in instructing deaf children had been engaged three years ago, but that a subsequent search for deaf students in Greater Victoria schools had produced too few to warrant formation of a special class.

If the situation changes and a need arises, he said, the board will be ready to institute such a class.

Career Mother Needs Common Sense

With a continuing career as an actress.

BY MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

HOLLYWOOD—UP: The question I am asked most frequently is: "How do you manage to successfully combine your married life, which includes bringing up seven youngsters, with a continuing career as an actress? This does not take a superhuman effort or an exceptional personality. It takes just a great deal of good common sense and an adult viewpoint shared by both husband and wife.

I firmly believe that a woman who has very small children, I abandoned my career for some years until I was certain my youngsters had matured enough.

Movie and TV work takes you away from your home for days at a time. For me, I am working on location at Long Pine Cliff, a nature preserve for Columbia Pictures.

Pidgeon Happy as Lark

BY SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) —

Walter Pidgeon, lunching at

Metro, was happy as a lark when he told me the deal for his Broadway play, "The Happiest Millionaire," was for the run of the play.

"But I'm not renting an apartment in New York until

I see how we go over." Last time Walt was on Broadway was 20 years ago. I doubt whether Manhattanites will see any difference. This man is ageless.

Metro is showing "Pygmalion" next week. This version starred Wendy Hiller and the late Leslie Howard. And when I asked Miss Hiller on the set of "Something of Value" if she would attend,

she believed she would be too busy working. The picture with Rock Hudson and Dana

Wynter has a grueling 10-week schedule here. . . the search is on for a big guy to play Jack Dempsey in the

Sam Welsenthal production for RKO.

When Ava Gardner's stand-in for "The Little Hut" became ill in Rome, 600 signorinas applied for the job. Director Mark Robson finally selected this year's "Miss

Rome" for the chore.

Howard Hughes lent Joyce

Taylor to Joe Pasternak for

"Ten Thousand Bedrooms," with Dean Martin. Do you realize that Dean's new baby, expected on Christmas day, will be his eighth? . . .

Caught producer Sol Siegel dashing into his car on the Metro-parking lot and his

"Les Girls" with Gene Kelly has only been postponed a week he told me. "We're still very much interested in Gina

Lollobrigida, but we have a long shooting schedule and she's in Rome pretty exaspe-

("Hunchback of Paris.")

Vic Damone is about to hit the 1,000,000 mark for his

"Street Where You Live"

record. His first millionth since the war. Vic was offered the choice between this song and "I've Grown Accustomed to Your Face" from "My Fair Lady." Everyone thought the latter would be the big hit. But Vic's choice was right.

His and Pier Angel's son

Perry has just hit the one-year

mark without mama to help celebrate. She's in France making "The Vintage" with Mel Ferrer.

Important gasoline development for high-compression engines:

From aviation fuel — new pick-up for your car!

Aviation Blend, originally designed for airline fuel, is now in Chevron Supreme. It's Skypower — newest answer to the power needs of every car on the road! This formula vaporizes harmful deposits that other gasolines allow to form in your engine's combustion chamber. Result: lively response when you need it in traffic, added power that makes steep grades easier, new freedom from knock when you accelerate.

Skypower insures clean burning — helps stop valve corrosion and ring wear. You also get famous carburetor-cleaning "Detergent-Action" — to increase gas mileage, prevent stalling. Chevron Supreme with Skypower is today's most modern motor fuel. If your car does not require Supreme, get all the power it can deliver with Chevron Gasoline. Try a tankful . . . and for convenience, use a Chevron Credit Card!

High tribute was paid in Supreme Court chambers here yesterday to Roy Manzer, QC, DFC, well-known city lawyer who died here Sunday, aged 59.

Mr. Justice A. D. MacFarlane, speaking on behalf of the bench of B.C. before some 60 barristers and solicitors, said the legal profession had lost one of its ablest and most courteous barristers.

W. H. M. Haldane, QC, speaking for the Benchers, and J. Alan Baker, president of the Victoria Bar Association, described the first world war flier as a man of the "highest ethical principles" and an example for younger members of the bar to follow.

A wide representation from the Victoria Bar Association was present at funeral services at 3 p.m. from McCall's chapel. Active pallbearers were Mr. Baker, city prosecutor J. Allan Bigelow, D. A. M. Patterson, Louie Corke, R. B. Crombie and Arthur Baker.

A PADRE IN PRINT

BY REV. WILLIAM HILLS

Tomorrow is the end of the month. When I write "30" at the bottom of this piece, I shall bring to an end a series which was begun five years and 415 columns ago. Thus time marches on and man struggles to keep up with it.

In so doing, he hopes that in his tomorrows he will find a solution for the problems which beset him today.

But this will not come to pass until two simple yet fundamental propositions are remembered and obeyed. There is a relationship between cause and effect.

There is a difference between right and wrong.

Godless Russia

It is significant that in our time the security of man has been threatened by the rise of the totalitarian state which, in essence, is built upon a pagan appraisal of man.

I think of godless Russia, and I am forced to this conclusion. Whatever virtues there are in the Communist experiment, it demonstrates that atheism reduces human personality to a terror-stricken appendage of an all-powered and ruthless political tyranny.

The rejection of Stalinism by the present Soviet oligarchs serves only to underline the abiding truth of those words.

Man has no certainty on this atom-shadowed planet if God is not.

Whatever faults there are in the Christian democracies of the West, the acknowledgment of a Supreme Being has inspired and confirmed the charter of human rights and man's liberty.

Both the recent political conventions held at Chicago and San Francisco ended on a note sounded often from the pulpit. Both President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson recalled their people to a spiritual philosophy of man.

Local Voters' List Open Sept. 4 Through Oct. 31

The city voters' list, City Clerk M. F. Hunter, emphasized road or poll taxes to pay in individuals and corporations, also stay on the list if they have to abandon them does not become effective until Jan. 1, 1957, spouses—husbands or wives of Trades-licence holders, both property-owners.

Clip this kitchen-tested recipe PAN FRIED CHICKEN

Coat chicken pieces with seasoned flour. (For each pound of chicken, blend 1/4 cup flour, 1 tsp. salt, 1/8 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. paprika. If you prefer, add 1/8 tsp. poultry seasoning.) Brown pieces in about 1 1/2-inch hot fat in frying pan: turn to brown evenly. Reduce heat so fat just simmers. Cover tightly. Fry 30 to 40 minutes. Uncover pan for last 5 minutes to re-crisp the skin.
